★ Background

Founded in 2007, Rababy & Associates is a military, intelligence and culture consulting firm specializing in research, analysis and production of assessments for industry, academia and the government.

The information revolution of the 21st Century can be overwhelming and often contradictory. The analysts at Rababy & Associates specialize in capturing the pertinent and critical information from the "noise" and presenting the data in a usable format in the most timely manner.

Rababy & Associates helps "quiet" the noise by providing tailored assessments and estimates saving our clients time and money. We have applied the tactics, techniques and procedures utilized in the production of classified intelligence to the unclassified world of industry and government.

R&A has assembled a small team of experienced analysts who possess over 100 years of combined experience in the collection, analysis and production of finished intelligence products tailored to our clients needs.
